

The Good Life and Confucianism with Stephen Angle

Context on source: Charles Walker is Professor of History, at UC Davis. He is also the director of Global Centers for Latin America & the Caribbean (Global Affairs). Chuck held the MacArthur Foundation Endowed Chair in International Human Rights from 2015-2020. His area of expertise is Peruvian history and his 2014 The Tupac Amaru Rebellion, was named one of the best books of the year by the Financial Times. Chuck is also the author of a recent graphic history Witness to the Age of Revolution: The Odyssey of Juan Bautista Tupac Amaru.

Questions

1) What should we all know about Tupac Amaru II?

2) How do we decide if it is a rebellion or a revolution?

3) Why did they rebel?

4) Why is this rebellion important?

5) How close did this revolution come to winning?

6) Why does the revolution lose?

7) What role do women play?

- 8) What does this period tell us about what it means to be Latino as an ethnic group?

- 9) Does this period and this rebellion shed any light on the political conflicts in Peru today?

Reflection Questions

1. Which aspect of the conversation did you find most interesting? Important? Surprising?